Vineyard Broel

Karl-Heinz Broel is the smallest winery in the Middle Rhine region. On 2.5 hectares of land at the foot of the legendary Drachenfels (Dragon's Rock), he nurtures the white grape varieties of Riesling, Kerner, Scheurebe and Müller-Thurgau. His operation is the only vineyard in Rhöndorf carrying on a centuries-old tradition that traces its roots back to 1742. Despite the relatively modest amount of land, the vineyard is home to the region's largest wine cellar. In addition to wine tastings and cellar tours, the Weingut Broel also provides an enchanting stage for celebrations of all sizes. Weather permitting, events can be held outdoors with fabulous panoramic views of the Dragon's Rock. Indoors, the wine cellar and rustic tavern with piano are available.
